By: Raj Patel: Co-Founder

This week, we announced exciting news for Orderhive and our customers and team: Orderhive is now part of Cin7, along with inventory management software provider DEAR Systems.

Not only can our clients continue to rely upon our market-leading ecommerce capabilities, but we are now better positioned than ever to meet the evolving needs of customers as they grow and scale their businesses. Our newly forged connections with Cin7's larger geographic footprint, resources and infrastructure will make Orderhive's unique capabilities available to more product sellers across the globe.

Be assured that our commitment to the Orderhive solution has not changed. We will continue to invest to support, maintain and extend Orderhive and serve our new and existing customers flawlessly. As we look to the future, we see tremendous opportunities to collaborate with our Cin7 and DEAR Systems colleagues to strengthen and expand our capabilities to ensure we have an inventory management solution for every product seller, regardless of budget, scale, complexity, location or industry segment.

As the founders of Orderhive, we feel tremendous satisfaction at how our business has grown and become an invaluable partner to our loyal customers as more and more ecommerce sellers turn to us to provide an inventory management solution for their high-velocity business. I attribute our success not only to the product we've developed but the talented teams who have supported and strengthened that product over time. We can trace every feature back to the talented members of the Orderhive team that brought it to life. We are thrilled that our talented team will not only continue to build and grow the Orderhive product, but now also joins our colleagues at Cin7 and DEAR Systems to apply our combined strengths to the development of new capabilities to benefit product sellers everywhere.

This is the start of an exciting new chapter for Orderhive, our customers and our team. Thank you for your business and the trust you've put in us. If you have any questions, please reach out.
